In my own words

Hi, I'm a brother who is loyal and devoted to the African-American woman. I love her, need her, and can't do without her! The reason why is because I believe that the African-American woman is the trophy to have above all trophies! I believe that "she is worth her wait in gold!" She deserves a man (like me) who: believes in the Creator, prays daily, studies wisdom, seeks out understanding, and loves acquiring knowledge. Can you appreciate a man (like me) who will: lead you in prayer, guide you in truth, support you financially, nurture a loving relationship with you and your children, pay your bills, buy you nice clothing and jewelry, pay your rent, pay your car note, provide for your children, bring out the best in you, protect you from all negativity, and eliminate "all" stress in your life? All the sweet chocolate sisters deserve to be treated like the Queens they are! Only then can the sweetness of their souls flow and the gates, that hold them back from loving, be opened wide. Only then, can the sweet sistas believe again and be strengthened with the security they need, in life, not to fear. Where is my African-American Queen? Be you younger or older (age is only a number) poor and on welfare or rich with your own business, ignorant or a PHD, if you are looking for a good man who is emotionally stable, non-controlling, non-possessive, non-manipulative, a good listener, and who knows how bring out the best in you, lets be friends first. If you're looking for a man who'll take the complete and total well being of you and your children into consideration and live up to all that's expected of him, let's be friends first. If you want a man who focuses on making your hopes, dreams, and expectations a reality, then, double click on each of my pictures so they'll expand. Then, you can see me better. Afterwards, contact me.

Like what you see? I'm waiting to hear from you:
